HE KILLED A NEGRO.

A St. Louis Horseman in Trouble in Virginia.

A SHOOTING AT FALL CHURCH.

In Which Mr. Campbell Kills a Negro Named Hill.

The Negro Claimed to Have Been the Assailant and Mr. Campbell Justifiable in the Deed.

Associated Press Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30.—Charles L. Campbell, of this city, a stock broker, formerly a resident of St. Louis and the owner of a livery stable on Pine street, is in jail at Fairfax court house for killing a negro. The fatal affray occurred at Falls church in Virginia, where Mr. Campbell owns and conducts a farm of several hundred acres. The negro, A. L. Hill, had a grievance against Campbell, owing to latter having made derogatory remarks about him. Mr. Campbell and his foreman had lately gone to law through differences about farm affairs, and Hill had given testimony which was favorable to the foreman. This had angered Campbell and caused him to make disparaging remarks about the character of Hill. When accosted at Falls church, Mr. Campbell, who is 60 years of age, started to drive off, but Hill, it is said, called to him twice to stop, which he did, and then the colored man remarked:

"I understand you have accused me of doing you an injustice and being dishonest toward you." Mr. Campbell replied hotly that he did not care to have anything to do with Hill, as the latter was a scoundrel, or words to that effect. At this Hill seized Campbell and attempted to pull him out of the buggy, the old gentleman's hat falling off in the scuffle. Failing to get Mr. Campbell out of the buggy, Hill struck him twice in the face. Then Campbell drew his revolver and fired twice, one shot taking effect in Hill's abdomen. After the shooting Mr. Campbell drove to his home, soon afterward a large number of colored people of Falls church organized and proceeded to Campbell's residence, bent on lynching him. They surrounded the house and made threats that they would shoot Campbell through the window. A young lady visitor at the Campbell home heard the threats, and with admirable courage, went out on the steps and by her words and determination dissuaded the mob from carrying out its purpose. At this juncture Sheriff Sells arrived from Fairfax court house and Mr. Campbell willingly surrendered, stating that he was about to give himself up to the sheriff. The sheriff, with his prisoner, drove to Fairfax court house, where Campbell is still in custody.

CONSTRUCTIVELY CONFINED.

The Punishment of Judges George, Lane and Wray not Intolerable.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 30.—Judges George, Lane and Wray of Cass county, who were committed to jail for contempt of court in refusing to make a tax levy to pay the bonds of the Tebo and Neesho railroad arrived in this city Tuesday evening, but owing to the quarters at the county jail which had been assigned to them not being ready, they were given permission by Marshal Stewart to stay at his house or go elsewhere for the night. Judges Lane and George chose to stay at the hotel and Judge Wray at the house of a friend. Marshal Stewart took the three judges in charge today and had them removed to the county jail late in the afternoon. A room has been provided for the three martyrs on the second floor of the jail and were fitted up with comfortable furniture, and arrangements have been perfected to give them the best of edibles. They take their imprisonment cheerfully, and state that they will remain where they are until their terms of office expire before they will submit to the decree of Judge Phillips and make a levy. The prisoners will be under technical arrest only, as they will be placed on the roll of honor and allowed the freedom of the city. Judge Wray stated that they had made up their minds to stay until January 1, 1893, before giving in, as the terms of Judges George and Lane expire at that time, and he should then acquit Judge Phillips of the fact that he was willing to make a levy.

All of the judges felt very certain that a compromise would be effected in a short time between Cass county and the holders of the bonds.

HAD MUSCLE, GRIT AND WIT.

How a New Jersey Telegraph Operator Fought Four Thieves.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., March 30.—A fight between burglars and the station agent took place at the Fairwood station of the Jersey Central railroad last night. Shortly after 12 o'clock four rough looking men entered the station and attempted to break into the ticket office. The night telegraph operator, a plucky and muscular young fellow of 19, was alone in the office when the assault on the door was begun. He promptly telegraphed to Plainfield for help. The roughs were suspicious of the rattling of the keys and demanded instant delivery of all the company's funds in his charge. The operator waited his opportunity, and suddenly pulled back the catch and let the door open a trifle, to the extent of a chain which he had fastened about it. One of the ruffians' head was within reach, and the operator threw a billet of wood with such skill that felled the man senseless to the floor. Quick as a flash the operator snapped the door shut again. The success of this assault angered and somewhat confused the other three, and while they were ministering to the wounded agile young operator caught them off guard again, and with a short crowbar laid out a second robber. Then he sprang into the outer room, flourished a cudgel and attacked the other two. A sharp battle ensued, and the brave young operator was getting the worst of it when the noise of an approaching band was heard on the track, and the would-be burglars abandoned the fight and took to their heels, dragging their half-stupified but reviving comrades with them. By the time five railroad men on a hand-car had arrived on the scene the robbers had disappeared in the woods.

ILLINOIS DRUMMER.

QUINCY, Ill., March 30.—The Quincy Post-Travelers' Protective association of America, held an enthusiastic meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening. Geo. S. Metcalf, National president, of St. Louis, addressed the meeting, showing the association had gained railroad concessions over the Iron Mountain and Cotton Belt railroads and the commercial travelers of the country $25,000 per annum, also week-end tickets over various railroads. He stated that the Drummer's bill had been favorably reported in the house of representatives, with a fair prospect of it becoming a law. The National treasurer, T. T. Labaree, reported the association in good shape financially, having a balance in the treasury of $13,000 and 150 applications for membership within ten days. The Illinois state division, T. P. A., will hold their annual convention at Peoria, April 9, 1892, with state officers for the ensuing year to be elected, and there will be in attendance members from Quincy, Peoria and Chicago. His post will send at least eight members to Peoria, instructed for B. H. Miller of Quincy, for state president, and will vote for him first, last and all the time.

THE WORKING ANACONDA MINING COMPANIES ON THE VERGE OF A LAWSUIT.

CHRYSLER CREEK, Colo., March 30.—Trouble in regard to the ownership of locations has started and what will probably result in an important lawsuit has been inaugurated. The Work Mining company is the claimant of the Rustler, which adjoins the Superior, a mine owned by the Anaconda Mining company. The latter company claim that they were the first discoverers of the Rustler, hence the trouble. Recently the Work company leased the Rustler to a mine named Cramer who proceeded to uncover the vein 150 feet north of the shaft already on the property. This brought him immediately next to the Superior claims, and the Anaconda people assert that he has left the original Rustler vein in order to encroach on their lead. In retaliation they at once put a large force of men to work on the vein so that they will run into Cramer's lead, thus receiving benefits from the mine. The Work company also lay claim to several other properties claimed by the Anaconda, and as all the mines are very valuable an immense lawsuit is expected.

THE NEW SOUTH.

It is Not Booming, but Developing in a Steady and Healthy Manner.

BALTIMORE, March 30.—The Manufacturer's Record of Baltimore, this week presents a summary of new enterprises started in the south since the beginning of the year, showing new concerns organized as follows:

One blast furnace, 21 machine shops and foundries, 2 agricultural implement factories, 18 flour mills, 9 cotton mills, 8 furniture factories, 2 gas plants, 118 water works, 16 carriage and wagon factories, 36 electric light plants, 130 mines and quarries, 123 woodworking factories, 26 ice factories, 14 canning works, 3 stove factories, 23 brick works, 6 miscellaneous iron working establishments, 2 cotton compresses, 10 cotton seed mills and 283 other manufacturing establishments of a miscellaneous character.

Commenting upon these figures the Manufacturer's Record says: "We want to disabuse our readers of the idea that the south is booming, and in place of this impression we desire to prove to the world that the south is developing steadily, surely and in a healthy manner."

She made a one-way yesterday, finishing the voyage to Sandy Hook Light ship in six days, twenty-three hours and thirty minutes, over a long southerly course of 3171 miles. The record heretofore was seven days, four hours and thirty minutes, made by La Tonraire on her maiden trip to this port in June last.

Three Train Robbers Located.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 30.—The railroad and express circles have been quite active here today over the location of three Texas train robbers, who have been located south of Montgomery on the Louisville and Nashville road. It is believed the robbers had planned to hold up the Louisville and Nashville train. All express moneys between here and Mobile have been abandoned and detectives have been sent down to apprehend the robbers.

THE SILVER SITUATION.

Various Opinions as to the Fate of the Bill.

BLAND ATTACKS SPEAKER CRISP

And the Georgian Replies With Stinging Sarcasm.

The Silver Market Demoralized and the Price Drops a Couple of Points—Californians.

Associated Press Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The silver men have understood that a special order bringing in a cloture rule would be reported to the house tomorrow and telegraphed to all their men to be in the house tomorrow.

This morning Speaker Crisp informed them that no special order would be brought in unless a majority of the Democratic members of the house sign a petition asking that a cloture rule be brought in.

Speaker Crisp was asked by an Associated Press representative this morning if the reports were true that the order would not be brought in unless a majority of the Democrats signed a petition. He replied, "that is my information."

Then the silver bill will never be brought to a vote?" said the reporter. "I don't know that that follows," replied the speaker. "They had a two-thirds majority of the Democrats and a majority to sign the petition."

Mr. Bland, Mr. Pierce and other silver men were seen. Mr. Bland was very downcast over the news that he might not force to a vote the measures he has avowed so long. He admitted that the report that the silver bill had met with another setback and one which practically meant its death, without a final vote, was well founded, but said that the matter was not absolutely settled.

Mr. Pierce was a little more confident, but he and Mr. Bland said they would have nothing to do with the circulation of any more petitions.

One of the other silver men, however, attempted to get signatures to a petition. The measure suggested by the speaker, but met with poor success, for as already stated thirty-five of the men who have heretofore voted for the silver bill refused to sign it. Among the number were Mr. Compton of Maryland, who not only declined to sign the petition but gave notice that if any cloture resolution is brought in he will vote against it.

The anti-silver men are exultant over the changes in the situation, but the pronounced silver advocates are exceedingly irritated and angry and do not hesitate to indignantly protest against the treatment they have received.

They were so much discouraged at the declaration of the intention of the thirty-five silver men not to sign any petition that the effort to procure signatures to such a paper was abandoned and no actual petition is now in circulation.

Mr. Bland made the following statement to an Associated Press reporter: In this morning's New York World there appeared a dispatch stating the correspondent had it upon the best possible authority that the speaker would require a petition requesting the use of the cloture act.

Of course the friends of free silver regarded that he had made pledges and promises as indicated in the dispatches to our opponents—pledges and promises that he did not advise the friends of free silver he had made. The consequence is that at a critical moment they saw the speaker had deserted them and many members, especially those who were the followers of Crisp, are now refusing to sign any petition. I see at this time but very little hope of getting a majority of the members on a petition asking that the rule be reported. Of course the speaker has great power and since he has shown a disposition to lay the bill on the table members who have confidence in him will go with him and this leaves us with the bill, having not only the anti-free coinage men its opponents, but also the speaker opposed to it and those who personally follow him. What may be the outcome I cannot say. We can count a sufficient number of members who have been voting against the consideration of the bill who state emphatically that they will vote for the bill, if it ever comes up on its passage, to give it from 10 to 20 majority."

ARTEMUS AND HATTIE.

Ex-Precursor Glover and His Cousin, Miss Gay, Shown in a Bad Light.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The suit for absolute divorce brought by Mrs. Julia A. Glover against ex-Rev. Artemus Ward Glover came up for a hearing in the supreme court, Brooklyn, today. Judge Cullen fixed next Monday as the day for trial.

Mrs. Glover alleges that she was married to the defendant in 1874, and that she left him last December. She accuses him of infidelity and names one Hattie Gay as co-defendant. Mrs. Glover is a tall, stately-looking woman about 40 years old. "Mr. Glover and I lived happily together until about eight years ago," said Mrs. Glover today.

"His cousin, the correspondent, came to our home in Boston from Prince Edward's Island. I brought charges of misconduct against my husband, and the case was thoroughly investigated by a properly appointed tribunal in the church of the Latter Day Saints in Boston, of which he and I became members about thirteen years ago. He was found guilty on two charges, and his license to preach was taken away. Last September we moved to Brooklyn. I soon learned that my husband was keeping up his intimacy with Hattie Gay and I left him. I am told that my husband accuses me of being a Mormon missionary. This is untrue. The Boston members are one branch of the Latter Day Saints. We do not believe in the polygamists tenets of the Brigham Young school. At least I do not. Mr. Glover seems to."

Glover's defense is that his wife was acquainted with the facts alleged in her complaint while they lived together, and that by continuing to live with him as his wife she condoned the offense.

A BRUSH WITH BRIGANDS.

A Sheriff and Two Comrades Have a Desperate Battle Near San Diego, Tex.

SAN DIEGO, Tex., March 30.—For some days past it has been a known fact that one Ensenio Martinez and the northwest portion of this county, the one riding the horse of the deceased scout, Glover, and the other boldly pulling his pistol and knife in that neighborhood. They robbed a store about ten days ago. The matter was quieted to throw these murderous villains off their guard. Yesterday Sheriff Nichols and Ben Ayvader, accompanied by George Alenis, Augustine Canter and Jose Phalacio, run on these gentlemen, accompanied by a third. They were told to surrender, when Ashworth opened the ball with his Winchester. Firing became general. Jose Phalacio shot Ashworth's horse from under him, when he himself was shot through the thigh. Alenis and Canter surrounded Martinez, but he escaped through the brush. Benavidez also got his man in a thicket, when the duel for life commenced. At his twenty-first shot, Benavidez brought down his man. His name has not been learned. Ashworth and Martinez escaped, the others having Phalacio to take care of.

Sheriff Buckley went to the scene of the conflict last night, accompanied by a doctor. The horse that Ashworth rode to hide his tracks and prove to be the horse Glover rode when he was killed. The fight took place about twenty-eight miles from here.

SHE TRUSTED HIM TOO FONDLY.

Nora Smith, an Innocent Country Girl of 17, Betrayed and Deserted.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 30.—A young girl from Big Rock, Miss., appeared at police headquarters this morning and her artless story developed another case of woman's trustfulness and man's depravity. Her name is Nora Smith, and she is barely 17 years old. She loved John B. Goyen, a young merchant of her village, and he betrayed her under promise of marriage. Her step-father warned her against Goyen, but she refused to listen to him.

Last week Goyen left Big Rock and told Nora to meet him in Memphis. The unsophisticated country girl had no idea of the size of Memphis and supposed her lover would meet her at the depot, or that at least everybody would know him. Accordingly she asked for no address, but yesterday she arrived in the city. John was not on hand to meet her, and she inquired of the porter where he could be found. No one knew him, and she spent the night in the depot.

This morning a policeman escorted her to the police station, where she told her simple story. She would not be persuaded to meet her lover in his room at the Arlington hotel today by shooting himself through the right temple. He came here on February 10 for the benefit of his health, and it is presumed that he had been dependent on not getting well as soon as he thought for, and decided to end his existence. The unfortunate man did not leave any writing or other evidence that would lead to the motive for his rash act. When found he was lying on the bed dead with a bullet-hole in the right temple and a 36-caliber revolver clenched in his hand. He has a brother and other relatives in Danville, who have been notified of his death.

CITY ATTORNEY'S SUICIDE.

Henry E. Barkdale of Danville, Va., Shoots Himself at Hot Springs.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 31.—Henry E. Barkdale, city attorney of Danville, Va., committed suicide in his room at the Arlington hotel today by shooting himself through the right temple. He came here on February 10 for the benefit of his health, and it is presumed that he had been dependent on not getting well as soon as he thought for, and decided to end his existence. The unfortunate man did not leave any writing or other evidence that would lead to the motive for his rash act. When found he was lying on the bed dead with a bullet-hole in the right temple and a 36-caliber revolver clenched in his hand. He has a brother and other relatives in Danville, who have been notified of his death.

HE DROWNED HIS BABY.

William Boyce, the Unnatural Parent, Is Committed Without Bail.

CINCINNATI, O., March 30.—William Boyce, who was charged with the murder of his 3-day-old baby in the Ohio River on the night of March 2, was in the police court today and waived examination and was committed to jail without bail. His wife, whom he has not seen since his arrest on March 5, and who was also charged with the murder, was brought from the hospital for examination. The meeting was painful and affecting. They fell into each other's arms and wept. After a brief hearing, which disclosed that the mother had no knowledge of the purpose of her husband to drown the child, the case against her was dismissed.

HIS MUSTACHE HIS RUIN.

Free Methodist of Knox, Ind., Regard a Hirsute Growth as Objectionable.

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 30.—A rather novel proceeding is reported from Knox, Starke county, where until recently the Free Methodist church was under the ministrations of a zealous pastor, whose only weakness in the eyes of his flock was a flowing mustache, which in the opinion of the pastor only added to his dignity. However, matters came to a crisis and the pastor by request of church officials has tendered his resignation. The sanctified members deliberated and came to the solemn conclusion that a mustache was contrary to the well-being of the congregation and the teaching of the bible.

Will Fight the Whiskey Trust.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 30.—Rumors have been in circulation to the effect that those persons who had sold their stock in the Distillers' and Cattle Feeders' company contemplated the erection of new distilleries for the purpose of fighting the trust. Samuel Woolner was mentioned as being interested in the new plan and a reporter called on him today for information. He said the report was correct. That he had associated himself with others for the purpose of building two distilleries, each of about 5,000 bushels capacity. The capital stock will be $1,000,000 and the work will be commenced as soon as the weather will permit.

"I WILL GIVE HIM REST."

Rev. Dr. Rickerson, Pastor of the Baptist Church.

DIES OF HEART DISEASE TUESDAY

A Long and Honorable Clerical Career.

The Funeral Services Will Be Held today at 2:30 With High Masonic Honors.

The death yesterday, by apoplexy, at the residence of B. F. McFall, of Rev. Dr. F. D. Rickerson, was a shock to the entire community.

Since February, 1889 Dr. Rickerson has been an honored resident of Phoenix and as a pastor of the Baptist church, he won the admiration, respect and love of all with whom he came in contact.

Dr. Rickerson was born at Waterloo, N. Y., November 23, 1837, where he lived for a number of years, until he went to Rochester where he received his education.

He moved west in 1858, to Des Moines, Iowa, where he was first licensed to preach in October of the same year. He was regularly ordained at Grinnell, Iowa, in April, 1859, from which time until the day of his death he was a hard worker in behalf of the Baptist church.

During the doctor's life he was stationed at the following places, in each one of which he either built a church or raised the money with which to pay off indebtedness: Moline, Ill.; Jenesse, Ill.; Chicago, Ill.; Quincy, Ill.; Hannibal, Mo.; Springfield, Ill.; Des Moines and Sioux City, from which place he removed to Phoenix in February 1889.

Dr. Rickerson was also a high Mason, having been commander and grand prelate of the grand commandary of Illinois, and king of the local chapter and prelate of the Phoenix commandary when he died.

The first public meeting of the commandary in this city was held by his request in the Baptist church and he preached an able sermon explaining and defending the principles of Free Masonry. It was an eloquent and studied address and created much favorable comment at the time.

On his arrival in this city Dr. Rickerson found the Baptist church in a neglected condition and with a depleted treasury. Like a valiant Christian and true Sir Knight he set about to do the duty that lay before him. Subscriptions were solicited in eastern cities where he had worked successfully and where he was loved. The cry that went out from Macedonia was heard. The funds were raised; the church was built; the congregation strengthened. Then in the zenith of his manhood and usefulness the laborer was called aside by the master-builder to a generous reward.

Dr. Rickerson was a man capable of protracted physical exertion, but he had been in failing health for some months, and at the time of his sudden taking off had sought refuge among the green fields in the bosom of quietude. He was a man of fine sensibilities, generous impulses, lofty aspirations—an earnest, sincere Christian man who tried to do right as the Lord gave him to see the right, and worked for his fellow men. Dr. Rickerson leaves a loving wife and daughter who, with the entire community, grieve over a loss that cannot be repaired. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2:30, from the Baptist church with Masonic honors. Chaplain Scott, U. S. A., will preach the funeral sermon and ex of the resident clergy will act as pall bearers.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

K. of P. meets tonight.

Police and justice courts quiet.

Rather windy yesterday. The dust was flying.

Justice Hason sustained a severe leg-sprain yesterday by being thrown from a horse of Dr. Toney's. He gets around with a cane.

Jefferson street is a good promenade for lovers, but effusion should not be made under the gas light. It attracts too much attention.

The latest arrival is a little girl at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Sears. Mrs. Sears, nee Lillie Cox, is the daughter of Judge Cox of this city. The judge says he is willing to accept his new grandchild, although his preference was for a Democratic voter.

The Commercial hotel restaurant has been leased by Lee & Slade, of Denver, and will shortly be reopened in first-class style. Mr. Slade was formerly caterer of the Denver club and under Lee & Slade the kitchen and dining room of the Luray hotel were the finest in the city. The new establishment should be a good business.

The corner of Washington and Montezuma streets presents a scene of activity at present as the carpenters and masons are busily engaged remodeling the old building formerly occupied by McNamara as a saloon and when the work is completed this will be one of the neatest business buildings in the city. The enterprising young merchant Morris Asher who recently purchased the elaborate stock of the Great Eastern will occupy this building when completed and the place will hereafter be known as "The Red Corner."

Even the boot blacking business has its tricks. There is a old habit, which some boys have, of blacking the toes of one's foot without paying much attention to the heels. There is another trick not nearly so well known and very "smooth." Many of the boys in the business buy their blacking at drug stores. When a boy is bought the purchaser has the clerk pour into it as much turpentine as will make a hole made by a grimy finger in the middle of its contents will allow. The oil is absorbed by the blacking which then becomes ended with the property of making a shine that anyone would pay 10 cents for without haggling. Three minutes after the shine is completed, however, the shoe is turned to a dull drab, black for the oil has soaked in. But by that time boy is somewhere else.
